

Summary of research titled

A proposed role for the social work to activate the programs of the elderly clubs in achieving social protection

Prepared by: Dr. Manal Hamdy El Tayeb
Assistant Professor, Faculty of Social Work,
Fayoum University

The problem of the study and its importance:

Human development is the social capital and the cornerstone on which any country is based. The achievement of human development requires focusing on two basic aspects, one of which is the development of capacities and the second is the use of these capacities and investing them to participate in all activities of society.

The elderly are considered to be among the most important groups of society that are interested in all religions and societies because of their experience and the capabilities and energies they have to contribute to the advancement of nations if they are invested and invested.

The protection and protection of older persons is a national obligation that is primarily undertaken by the family, the State, the social movements of a humanitarian nature, as well as everyone who contributes to the protection and protection of the elderly.

Social protection is one of the basic foundations for supporting vulnerable groups, especially the elderly, and for social protection programs to function; they should ensure that those who are most in need are partners in development and should be actively integrated into the community to benefit from their expertise and potential.

Based on this, our current study focused on the effectiveness of the programs of the elderly clubs in achieving social protection for them and reaching a proposed role for social service to activate the programs of the elderly clubs in achieving social protection.

Study Questions:

1- Key question: What is the extent to which the programs of the elderly clubs for social protection are achieved?

The main question arises from the following questions:

- a- What is the extent to which the programs of the elderly clubs achieve their health protection?

- b- What is the extent of the programs of the elderly clubs for their social protection?
- c- To what extent do the programs of the elderly clubs achieve their cultural protection?
- d- To what extent do the programs of the elderly clubs achieve their recreational protection?
- e- To what extent do the programs of the elderly clubs achieve their professional protection?
- f- To what extent do the programs of the elderly clubs achieve their economic protection?

2 - What are the obstacles that prevent the elderly clubs in turn to achieve social protection?

3- What is the proposed vision for social service to activate the programs of the elderly clubs in achieving social protection?

Methodological procedures for the study:

This study belongs to the type of evaluation studies that aim at measuring the effectiveness of the programs of the elderly in achieving social protection for them.

The study is based on the social survey of the sample for elderly members of clubs of the elderly who benefit from the programs and services provided by clubs.

- The social survey of the sample of the working group of the clubs of the elderly.

Study Tools:

- (1) A form for measuring the effectiveness of the programs of the elderly clubs in achieving social protection applied to elderly members in the clubs of the elderly and they numbered (180) sample.
- (2) A form to measure the effectiveness of the programs of the elderly clubs in achieving social protection applied to the members of the working group of the clubs of the elderly and they numbered (70) sample.

Fields of study:

1- The spatial field

The study was applied to the clubs of the elderly in Fayoum city (6) clubs.

2- Human field:

- The study was applied to a sample of older members in the clubs of the elderly, the researcher applied the study to a representative sample of (180) sample members of the total research community (900) elderly, according to the conditions determined.
- The study also applied to the working group of the clubs of the elderly and they numbered (70) sample.

1- The Time field

The period of study, data collection and extraction of results which took place from 13/3/2017 to 15/10/2017.

The results of the study:

The study concluded with a set of results:

- (1) The results of the study confirmed that there are some drawbacks that show the lack of clubs of the elderly in achieving health protection, social protection, cultural protection, recreational, professional, economic protection for the elderly.
- (2) The results of the study showed that there are obstacles that prevent the elderly clubs from achieving social protection for the elderly.
- (3) The results of the study resulted in a proposed social service scenario for activating the elderly clubs in achieving social protection.