3- The rationality –morality in the theory of retribution in the Philosophy of J.Hampton

It is on the applied ethics, on criminal law, She defines the crimes as moral beings, therefore, any criminal action is an intentional action, it is being for violating the victims values. Here, the civil governments must respect the moral nature of her popular, So we can diminish any material punishment, pain punishment for decide the educational method, then the punishment will become a method in education, at this time the crimes will require this punishment in order to reconciliation with their societies.