Publishing and Studying of Some Inscriptions in the Tomb of Khatu at El-Assasif " A Hypothesis for Dating the Tomb "

Abstract:

The aim of this paper is to publish and study some texts and reliefs registered on the southern wall of the longitudinal hall of the tomb of the first priest of Montu, called Khatu in the archaeological area known as El-Assasif. Some items of this tomb bears fire effects that may be happened by the robberies in the recent time, this study provides some linear graphics, in addition to the descriptive study of these scenes and inscriptions, besides the translation of accompanying texts. It is worth mentioning that the texts of this tomb do not contain any historical evidence, such as the name and titles of ruled pharaoh nor distinctive event to any historical period. Therefore it can be dated only by internal criteria of the artistic style attributes, epigraphic and paleographic characteristics.
