

Abstract:
A Study of Jurisprudential Fundamentalism and its Impact on Jurists' Differences

This research is organized into an introduction, a preface, two chapters, a conclusion, and a bibliography.

As for the introduction: The introduction describes the importance of the research, its methodology and plan, and the preface talks about the causes of jurists' disagreement.

The first chapter is titled: Graduating the Manat ontology, and it includes the following:

First: Graduation in language and terminology.

Secondly: Logic in language and terminology.

Thirdly: What is meant by the graduation of the criterion.

Fourthly: The authority of Al-Manat's reasoning.

Fifth: The difference between developing, refining, and realizing a criterion.

Sixth: Methods of logical reasoning.

As for the second chapter, it is entitled: Jurisprudential reasoning (the impact of reasoning on jurists' disagreement), and it includes the following issues:

The first issue: Zakat on the property of a child and an insane person.

The second issue: The reason for the mandate of forcing a minor.

The third issue: The reason for the invalidity of nikah al-shaghar.

The conclusion contains the most important conclusions and recommendations reached by the research.