

“Rulings arising from the Corona epidemic in Islamic jurisprudence, a comparative jurisprudential study”

Research summary:

This study addresses a long-standing debate among scholars and researchers in the field of Quranic sciences, particularly in interpretation and contemplation. The central question is: Is the theme of a Quranic surah characterized by unity or multiplicity?

Through both theoretical and applied analysis, the researcher concludes that the theme of a Quranic surah is a combination of unity and multiplicity. It exhibits unity in terms of its main general idea, while displaying multiplicity through its various sub-elements. Each sub-element has its own partial idea, which is interrelated with the other partial ideas, ultimately contributing to the integration of the main theme and thus the overall subject of the surah.

The study further elaborates on the wisdom and purpose behind combining unity and multiplicity within the theme of a Quranic surah. It integrates the perspectives of classical Islamic scholars along with insights from modern specialists in human development.

Final Conclusion:

All praise is due to Allah, the Lord of all worlds.
