

The Role of regional Faculties of Education in community service (An Evaluative Study)

Abstract

The study attempted to provide the concept of community service , the present situation in Egyptian universities and faculties of education from their human (staff- students , administrators) and materialistic potentialities (buildings – laboratories – libraries – equipment) and for the faculties of education cater for the needs of environment to answer on the last question , the researcher proposed strategy for the regional faculties of education >