

Social capital and development of the Egyptian character after the revolution of 25 January 2011
(Educational perspective)

Abstract

The aim of the research to define the concept of social capital and its role in the development of the Egyptian character after the revolution of 25 January in order to achieve social cohesion and citizenship in the Egyptian society. The researcher used the descriptive approach to identify some concepts and issues especially concerning social capital, citizenship and freedom, and develop some educational proposals that could contribute to the development of social capital in Egyptian society.

Keywords: Social Capital- Egyptian Personality-the revolution of 25January