

Benefit from the rules of full-text information in Fayoum University: Analytical Study

This study aims to examine the extent to benefit from the involvement of Fayoum University in the rules of full-text information by identifying the factors influencing the use of the rules of full-text information in Fayoum University, and by identifying the technological infrastructure of the University of Fayoum, to identify the impact of the university the size of the where prepare faculty members to report on the rates of the rules of the full texts available digital library information, as well as to identify the shortcomings and find solutions in order to achieve the maximum from this project to benefit a productivity increase scientific faculty members and their assistants because of its influence in the Order Fayoum University among world universities in the world rankings of universities

In particular, and that the Fayoum University offers this service free of charge to faculty members and their assistants and students, both graduate and undergraduate students of the first phase