

Form No. (4)

Name of Candidate: Hani Omar Mohamed Mangoud

Degree: Ph. D.

Title of Thesis: Disputes of Inheritance in Egypt in the Roman
Period (30 B.C. - 284 A.D.)

Supervisors

Prof. Adel Elsayed Abdel Aziz

Prof. Hassan Ahmed Hassan

*Department :*History Branch: Graeco-Roman Approval.

ABSTRACT

This study deals with "Disputes of Inheritance in Egypt during the Roman Period (30 B.C.- 284 A.D.)". Although the process of inheritance in Egypt has been subjected during the Roman period to many laws that regulate the process of access to each individual of the eligible to inherit their dues, but this did not prevent the outbreak of many disputes between the population of Egypt during the Roman period regarding inheritance, which some of these disputes continued for long periods moved the conflict to sons. The conflict had many causes, and has gone through different stages. These conflicts have had wide-ranging consequences both at the legal, social and economic levels.

Fayoum University

Use Other Side if Necessary

The researcher of this study has divided it into three chapters and preface, preceded by an introduction, followed by a conclusion and supplements and a list of sources and references as follows:

- Preface: "System of inheritance in Egypt during the Roman period".
- Chapter 1: "Litigation proceedings".
- Chapter 2: "Disputes of Inheritance related to State".
- Chapter 3: "Disputes arising from Inheritance with a Will".
- Chapter 4: "Disputes arising from Inheritance without Will".
- Chapter 5: "Disputes of Inheritance related to Debts".